4.1.3. Timing of Calls

- A. Usage rates apply for completed calls originated or received on each access number:
 - (1) Chargeable time for a call originated on an access number begins when a connection to the Company facilities is established and ends when the cellular radio unit disconnects.
 - (2) Chargeable time for a call received on an access number begins when the call is answered and ends when the cellular radio unit disconnects.
- B. The minimum usage charged for each call is one minute. Each fraction of a minute is rounded up to a full minute for billing purposes, except as otherwise specified under the Pricing Plans in 4.2., following.
- C. Any applicable landline charges which result in fraction of a cent billing May be rounded up to the next whole cent on each call.
- D. When a connection is established in one time period and ends in another, the rate in effect for each period applies to that portion of the connection occurring within each time period.
- E. Usage rates do not apply on calls placed for emergency service to the 911 operator, *CG, and for other specialized services that are selected by the Company for its Customer s' use.

4.1.2. Billing and Payment of Charges (Continued)

- D. If payment for service is made by a check, draft, or similar instrument that is returned by a bank to the Company for any reason, a returned check charge of $10.00 applies in addition to the total amount due.
- E. The Company may offer an alternate method for a Customer to receive monthly billing information (ie; bills may be generated on floppy disc). This method may vary depending on the specific Customer requirements. The standard method of billing may continue to be provided. Minimum and Maximum ranges are specified for the minimum quantity of access numbers required for alternate billing, and for monthly rates. The method of alternate billing, minimum requirements, and applicable rates will be reflected in the Flexible Rate Schedule.

- F. Except as specified in Paragraph F. following, if any portion of a payment is still outstanding at the time of the payment due date, a late payment charge may be applied. The charge is determined by applying a rate not to exceed the maximum allowed by New York law to the unpaid balance for each month or fraction thereof that such balance remains unpaid. The rate applied will be indicated on the Customer's bill.
- G. The provisions of Paragraph E. preceding are not applicable to New York state agencies. Service to state agencies is rendered pursuant to the provisions of Article XI-A of the State Finance Law (Chapter 153 of the Laws of 1984).
- H. The Company shall provide interest on Customer overpayments caused by erroneous billing by the Company. The Customer shall be credited for the overpayment, plus interest. The range for the minimum usage requirement is specified below.

Minimum Usage Requirement (Minutes)		Minimum Monthly Total Charges

- B. Billing for access number and for optional features is rendered monthly or quarterly in advance; service charges, usage charges, applicable landline charges, and toll charges are billed monthly or quarterly in arrears.
- C. The charges for a fractional part of a month are a proportionate amount of the monthly charges based upon the actual number of days that service was furnished. Each month is considered to have 30 days for billing purposes.

3. REGULATIONS (continued)

3.4. Deposits and Advance Payments

3.4.1. Deposits

- A. An applicant for service whose financial condition is not acceptable to the Company or is not a matter of general knowledge may be required to make a deposit equivalent to up to two months of the estimated charges for the services to be provided. The form of the deposit may be cash or other instrument acceptable to the Company. An existing Customer may also be required to make an additional deposit if either the amount of service is increased or the credit standing of the Customer changes.
- B. Simple interest will be paid on a cash deposit for the period during which it is held by the Company.
- C. The Company will refund a cash deposit and its accrued interest before the end of twenty-four months if satisfactory credit has been achieved, or upon termination of service.
- D. The fact that a deposit has been made neither relieves the Customer from complying with the Company's regulations for the prompt payment of bills, nor constitutes a waiver or modification of the Company's regulation for terminating service for non-payment.

3.4.2. Advance Payments

- A. A Customer whose financial condition is not acceptable to the Company or is not a matter of general knowledge may be required prior to establishment of service to make an advance payment equal to the estimated charges for the first month's service.
- B. Advance payments are credited to the Customer's account on the first bill after the service is established.

3.3. Other Terms and Conditions (continued)

3.3.3. Liability of the Company

- A. The sole liability of the Company for loss or damages arising out of mistakes, omissions, delays, errors, or defects in the service and not caused by the negligence of the Customer shall not exceed an amount equivalent to the proportionate charge to the Customer for the period during which the mistake, error, or failure existed.
- B. The Company is not liable for:
 - (1) any act or omission of the underlying carrier or other non-Company providers of facilities.
 - (2) interruptions, errors, delays, or defects in transmission, or failure to transmit, when caused by acts of God, fire, war, riots, Government authorities, or other causes beyond Company control.
 - (3) any errors or delays in establishing or rearranging service beyond Company control
- C. At the request of the United States Coast Guard the Company provides for the automatic routing of emergency calls from boaters to the Coast Guard by dialing "*CG" in the CGSA. The Customer understands that the cellular system is engineered to provide service over land and that any coverage over water is incidental. The Company can not ensure that cellular coverage will be available on all the waterways in and around the CGSA.
- D. In the absence of gross negligence or willful misconduct by the Company in providing 911 service, "*CG service", other information services, or any other service provided under this tariff, the Customer agrees to release, defend, and hold harmless, the Company from any and all loss, claims, whatsoever, whether suffered, made, instituted, or asserted by the Customer or by any other party or person, for any personal injury to or death of any person or persons, or for any loss, damage, or destruction of any property, whether owned by the Customer or others.

3.3. Other Terms and Conditions

3.3.1. Interruption of Service

- A. A pro rata credit allowance will be made for an interruption in service of 24 hours or more. The allowance is 1/30 of the monthly charges for the services rendered inoperative by the interruption for each period of 24 hours or major fraction thereof beyond 24 hours. An interruption is measured from the time it is reported to the Company or detected by the underlying carrier, whichever occurs first. In no event will the credit exceed the total monthly charges and no liability shall attach to the Company.
- B. A credit allowance will not be made for an interruption in service of less than 24 hours, for any interruption caused by the negligence or willful act of the Customer, or for an interruption caused by failure of equipment or services that were not provided by the underlying carrier.
- C. As described in 3.1.1.(E), cellular service is subject to transmission limitations caused by atmospheric or topographical conditions. In addition, the Customer's terminal equipment, antenna, and quality of such terminal installation may affect the Customer's ability to obtain cellular service. The Company bills for airtime including those calls that may be interrupted due to these conditions. It is the Company's policy to provide Customer's with an airtime credit of two minutes, one minute for the disconnection and one minute for redialing, for each billable call that was disconnected due to transmission limitations caused by atmospheric or topographical conditions and that required the Customer to redial within ten (10) minutes of the disconnection. To request an appropriate airtime credit, a Customer must call the Company's Customer service department by dialing 800-227-1069 from a landline phone in the CGSA, or by dialing 611 from their cellular phone. Once a Customer makes a request for a credit, bill records from up to the prior twelve billing periods of the Customer will be analyzed by the Customer service representative and any appropriate credits shall be applied. It is also the Company's policy to provide Customer's with a single credit of $3.00 in any one month, the equivalent of a call credit, in cases where a Customer's complaint to the Company is not corrected to the Customer's satisfaction. This credit will be issued to any Customer contacting the Company's Customer service department at the number listed above to request credit, where the Company determines that they were unable to satisfy the Customer's complaint.

3.3.2. Other Carrier Services

Directory listings, operator-assisted services, telegrams, mailgrams, cablegrams and radiograms are provided by other common carriers. Customer's may use these services subject to the regulations and charges of the carrier. However, charges for any of these services cannot be billed to an access number.

3.2. Termination of Service

3.2.1. Termination by a Customer

- A. A Customer may terminate service at any time after the minimum service period by notifying the Company. Customers that enter into optional contract agreements with the Company will be required to pay termination charges if service is terminated prior to the end of the optional contract period.
- B. The Customer remains responsible for payment of all outstanding charges for the period that service was rendered.
- C. In the event a Customer's cellular telephone is lost or stolen, the Customer shall not be responsible for charges incurred subsequent to the loss or theft, provided that the Customer requests the Company to interrupt or terminate service within 48 hours of the occurrence. In the event that notice is provided to the Company more than 48 hours following the occurrence, the Customer shall be responsible for payment of all outstanding charges until such time as notice of loss or theft is provided to and received by the Company.

3.2.2. Termination by the Company

- A. Upon violation of any regulation, including non-payment of any sum due, the Company may, except as otherwise provided for herein, by notice in writing to the Customer, either interrupt or terminate service to the Customer without incurring any liability. Upon violation of any regulation, including non-payment of any sum due, the Company may, for Customers using Daily Cellular Service furnished pursuant to Section 4.9., following, terminate or interrupt service without notice to those Customers, without incurring any liability.
- B. If a Customer uses a cellular radio unit in such a manner that it adversely affects the system or service to another user, the Company may, without notice, take such action as necessary including interrupting or terminating the service of that Customer. The Customer must discontinue such use of the equipment or correct the violation immediately, and must confirm in writing to the Company that such use has ceased or that the violation has been corrected.
- C. If the Company detects that the Electronic Serial Number (ESN) of a cellular radio unit of a Customer has been duplicated without Company authorization, or if the Company detects that the cellular radio unit is otherwise being used in a fraudulent manner, the Company may, without notice, take such action as necessary including interrupting the service of that Customer.
- D. If service is interrupted in accordance with A, B, or C, above, service may be restored upon correction of the violation or payment of all charges due. In addition, a service charge may apply as specified in 4.4 following.

3.1. Establishing and Furnishing Service (continued)

- B. Cellular radio units must be technically and operationally compatible with the cellular system and in conformance with applicable Federal Communications Commission rules and regulations.
- C. Access numbers are assigned by the Company and may be changed at any time by the Company if necessary in the conduct of its business. A Customer has no proprietary right in an access number. An access number can appear in only one cellular radio unit.

The Company's obligation to furnish service is dependent upon its ability to obtain, retain, and maintain suitable facilities, licenses, and rights for the construction and maintenance of the necessary circuits and equipment without unreasonable expense. In cases where the Company resells the service of another carrier its obligation to furnish service is dependent upon its ability to obtain service from that underlying carrier.
- B. Cellular radio telecommunications service will be provided to any person, firm, corporation, or other legal entity for use, resale, or shared use, subject to the terms and conditions specified herein.
- C. Service may be temporarily refused, limited, interrupted or curtailed due to limitations in system capacity, equipment modifications or restrictions imposed by an underlying carrier.
